

Las Cruces, NM - On Saturday, May 8th, Congressman Harry Teague will spend the day in Las Cruces meeting with constituents and attending area events. First, he will attend the Las Cruces Railroad Museum's "Rail Road Days" for the dedication of the new 1909 caboose and the depot's placement on the National Register of Historic Places.

Following that event, he will recognize local student artists at the final judging of the Congressional Art Competition. Teague will announce the winner of the overall competition, who will receive a free trip to the unveiling of artwork at the US Capitol in Washington, DC, as well as the winner of the Congressman's "Online Favorite" competition.
